

NEW PRINCE OF WAGRAM

Royal and Jewish Blood Mingle in His Veins.

Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company. Alexander Berthier, who has just succeeded his father as fourth Prince and Duke of Wagram, has in his veins the Wittelsbach blood of the reigning house of Bavaria, mingled with that of the Rothschilds.

The first Prince of Wagram was Alexander de Berthier, the most famous of all the generals of the first Emperor Napoleon. The Emperor secured for his favorite Berthier a royal bride, in the person of Duchess Marie of Bavaria, of that dual branch of the Wittelsbachs to which the late Emperor of Austria, the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and the famous oculist, Duke Charles Theodore of Bavaria, belonged.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

The Emperor's daughter, the late Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, was married to King Louis XVIII in 1792, and which hailed from Versailles was the hero of the battle of Wagram and a leading actor in most of Napoleon's victories.

ANGELA GETS A VACATION

Almost Misses Outing with Tribune Fresh Air Children.

HAD TO WORK AT NIGHT

Tells 'Teacher' She Got Mother's Consent by Earning Money to Make Up for Lost Time.

Angela went to the country yesterday. Her face was wreathed in smiles as she boarded the train. There were other smiling faces in the party, to be sure, but Angela's outshone them all and almost put the sun to shame.

With a dozen others she had made ready to go and was looking forward to Thursday, the day set for the departure, with the liveliest anticipation.

Monday afternoon, however, she appeared at the Charlton Street Mission House with tear wet eyes and quivering lips to tell Miss Case, her "teacher," that she couldn't go.

"My mamma says I got to work," was the reason she sobbed out.

Angela is nine, but looks not more than six. In a family of eight children she is next to the eldest.

Knowing the child to be especially in need of rest and country air, "teacher" went to see if she could not prevail upon the mother to alter her decision.

Miss Case made her call at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. When she reached the fourth floor of the Sullivan street tenement house where the family lives, she found the mother and five of the eight children, Angela among them, seated around a table hard at work making flowers.

The youngest worker in the group was a girl of three years, who sat beside a great box of artificial petals and patiently separated handful after handful of them for the others to bind on stems.

The other children were all between Angela and the "baby."

To the urgent and repeated request that Angela be permitted to seize the opportunity for a country vacation the mother stolidly made one reply:

"We have to eat."

Finally, seeing that she was making no impression, Miss Case departed, convinced that the little flower maker would have to forego her country visit.

For several days no more was seen of the child.

But Thursday morning just before the party left the mission house for the train in crowded Angela, bag in hand, ready for the trip.

"I can go," she fairly shouted, with her face all a-ripple with smiles. And so she did.

On the way to the railroad station Miss Case inquired how she had succeeded in getting her mother's consent.

"Oh, I worked every night till twelve o'clock and earned 50 cents every night, so that my mamma said I could go."

According to the statement of Miss Case, Angela and her brothers and sisters, and scores of others whom she sends away for Fresh Air trips through the Tribune Fresh Air Fund, spend a great share of their time in such work as this.

During the part of the year when attendance at school is compulsory, they work at school hours all day Saturday and Sunday.

Through the summer almost the entire time is spent in this way.

As a result the children are pale and anemic, are dull at school and seldom attain full growth.

Hundreds of such children in various parts of the city are waiting for the coming of what is for them the one bright spot in the summer—a Tribune Fresh Air vacation.

The Boardman, of the Richmond Hill House, at No. 28 MacDougal street, said yesterday:

"We sent seven hundred children to the country last year, but this year we have only been able to send two hundred so far. Every hour the doorbell rings to announce some child who asks simply, 'When can I go?'"

"When I go out nowadays I have to avoid Sullivan, Thompson and West Houston streets—the places from which we draw most of our children—because I cannot give them any definite answer as to vacations. Why, at No. 137 West Houston street there are twenty children in the one house who want to go and need to go. At No. 14 Sullivan street there are fifteen girls, at No. 16 there are ten boys, and so on at Nos. 11, 12, 13 and many others."

"I don't know what we shall do with them."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Collection at second medical of recent season of Fresh Air Fund on August 3, 1911. $74.15

Collection at second medical of recent season of Fresh Air Fund on August 3, 1911. $74.15

Collection at second medical of recent season of Fresh Air Fund on August 3, 1911. $74.15

Collection at second medical of recent season of Fresh Air Fund on August 3, 1911. $74.15

Collection at second medical of recent season of Fresh Air Fund on August 3, 1911. $74.15

EDWARD MURPHY DEAD

Ex-Mayor of Troy, Once U. S. Senator, Expires in Long Branch.

AILING SINCE LAST JUNE

Rallied After Operation, but Begon to Sink Last Sunday—Family at His Bedside.

Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 3.—Edward Murphy, of Troy, N. Y., who served four terms as Mayor of his native city and six years in the United States Senate, died this morning at his summer home, in Ocean avenue, Mr. Murphy was ailing when he arrived here in June. Two weeks ago an operation was performed for the removal of an abdominal gland.

He rallied, and up to Sunday it was thought he would recover, but he had a relapse and sank slowly until he died.

Members of the family, excepting Mrs. Hugh J. Grant, who is in Paris, were at the bedside when the end came. Mrs. Murphy was Miss Julia DeLahanty, of Albany. The children are William E. John J. Joseph, Edward, William Helen and Miss Jane, all of whom live in Troy.

Richard Murphy, of Englewood, N. J., and Mrs. Hugh J. Grant, of Albany, were also present.

Mr. Murphy was a director in the Monmouth County Horse Show Association and a parishioner of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church of this city, where solemn high mass will be celebrated on Saturday morning by the Rev. Father Richard A. Crean. The body will be taken to Troy for burial. Senator Murphy had been a summer resident of Long Branch for twenty-five years.

Edward Murphy was a political discoverer of Governor Tilden, for whom he managed the campaign in Rensselaer County so skillfully during that statesman's memorable race for the Presidency in 1876 that a Tilden delegation was sent to the St. Louis convention, although the politicians in command of the Democratic machine in the county were opposed to the Governor's nomination.

Mr. Murphy was then Mayor of Troy, its at once assumed a place high in the councils of the Democratic party. For many years he was chairman of the Democratic State Committee. A combination of William F. Sheehan, Richard Croker and David B. Hill made him United States Senator. He was a business associate of Anthony N. Brady. The keynote of his picturesque career was "He never goes back on a friend."

The future Senator was born in Troy in 1836, son of Edward Murphy, who emigrated from Ireland to this country in 1820 and established a brewery in Troy. Thomas was educated at Montreal and at St. John's College, Fordham, N. Y., from which he was graduated in 1857. He began his business career as a partner of his father. Upon the latter's retirement the firm became Kennedy & Murphy, and later the Kennedy & Murphy Malt Company.

Early in life Mr. Murphy attained prominence continuously within his apartments. His widow and a brother survive.

Major Phipps was one of the pioneer steel men in Pennsylvania and one of the group of Pittsburghers who amassed large fortunes out of the industry. He began life as a newspaper reporter and, attracting the attention of Andrew Carnegie the two became friends. Mr. Carnegie induced Phipps to let him invest his small savings in the steel business, and the two eventually became partners. Several years ago Major Phipps bought a ranch in California and built a palatial home, living on the estate until two years ago, when he went to Los Angeles and made his home in a hotel. He was regarded as eccentric, inasmuch as he was in constant fear of Black Hand men, insisting that they were determined to kill him. Consequently, he rarely left his hotel, having his offices in part of his suite. Major Phipps owned large blocks of steel stock and real estate in Pittsburgh and California.

JOHN H. GUNNER.

John H. Gunner, former Port Warden, in point of service the oldest Republican district leader in the city, died yesterday at the home of his brother-in-law, C. W. Berger, at Bayside, Long Island. Mr. Gunner was chief of the political machine in the 23rd District for a quarter of a century, and was Port Warden under three administrations. At one time he was associate probate clerk of this county. He belonged to several fraternal societies.

HENRY B. ELY.

Henry B. Ely, eldest son of George W. and Frances A. Ely, died on Wednesday at Los Angeles from tuberculosis. He was in his forty-fifth year. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1888 and thereafter studied law in the office of Carter & Ledwith.

He was admitted to the bar in 1890. On March 3, 1895, Mr. Ely was appointed one of the trustees of the Astor estate, which place he held until he was stricken finally by the pulmonary trouble which finally resulted in his death. He had great public spirit, and in Redlands, Cal., he organized a settlement to care for those sufferers from tuberculosis who financially were unable to care for themselves.

Mr. Ely was an active and energetic churchman and one of the associate editors of "The American Catholic Church," which is published in California.

THEATRICAL MANAGER DEAD

Jefferson D. Bernstein, Who Married Veronica Jarbeau Early in His Career.

Baltimore, Aug. 3.—Jefferson D. Bernstein, manager of the Auditorium Theatre, died today of apoplexy, with which he was stricken late last night. Mr. Bernstein was the representative here of the Shuberts throughout the country. He was forty-five years old.

Early in his theatrical career he married Veronica Jarbeau, the actress, who survives him.

ABBAY'S ASHES ARE BURIED

Members of the Royal Academy and the American Ambassador at Grave.

London, Aug. 3.—The body of Edwin A. Abbey, the American painter, was cremated today and the ashes buried at Kingsbury Old Church, near Wileston. The American Ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Reid and a number of American were present.

Mr. Reid sent a wreath on behalf of the artist's native land. The Royal Academy sent a broken harp formed of laurel leaves and bearing the words "In Memoriam."

Mrs. Abbey stood by the grave during the brief committal service. John Seymour Lucas, the painter, represented Princess Louise and among others there were Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, J. J. Shannon, Sir Edward Poynter and several other members of the Royal Academy.

RICHARD GAMBRILL HAS TYPHOID.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 3.—Richard Gambrill, son of Mrs. Richard Gambrill, is suffering from a light attack of typhoid fever at the summer home of his mother here. He became ill a number of days ago. Physicians were called, and while they had suspicions of typhoid they were unable to ascertain definitely until late today, at which time the fever had fully developed. There has been considerable anxiety among the summer colonists, but this was relieved when it was found that the attack was only a slight one.

MAJOR W. A. PHIPPS.

Los Angeles, Aug. 3.—Major W. A. Phipps, multi-millionaire, of Pittsburgh, former partner of Andrew Carnegie, died yesterday, aged fifty-seven years. For the last few years Major Phipps had lived in Los Angeles at a hotel and remained al-

THE NELSON OF JAPAN.

WAS CONSIDERED TO BE ONE OF THE GREATEST ARTISTS IN EUROPE.

REINHOLD BEGAS, THE SCULPTOR, DEAD

Was Considered to Be One of the Greatest Artists in Europe.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Professor Reinhold Begas, the most renowned sculptor in Germany, is dead. He was eighty years old.

Reinhold Begas, son of the artist Karl Begas, was born in Berlin in 1831, and after studying with Wiesmann and Rauch went to Rome, where the study of Michelangelo closely affected his future development.

In 1856 he permanently settled in Rome. Among the numerous and important works executed by Begas, the following are especially noteworthy: Statue of Friedrich Schiller (Berlin, 1863); "Venus Comforting Cupid" (1864); "The Rape of the Sabine" (1876); "Hermes and Psyche" (1878, National Academy, Berlin), and many others. Begas also executed a large number of busts and displayed his remarkable versatility in a series of portraits of women and important architectural designs.

W. M. HAMMERSTEIN WEDS

Miss Anna Nimmo, Sister of First Wife, the Bride.

William Hammerstein, son of Oscar Hammerstein and manager of Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, was married on July 27 to Miss Anna Nimmo, the sister of his first wife.

Seventeen years ago he married Alice Nimmo, who died on August 26, 1900. Two sons, now fifteen and thirteen years old, were born to them. Since their mother's death Anna Nimmo had lived at Mr. Hammerstein's home at Arden Hall, No. 29 Central Park West, to take care of her nephews.

The marriage occurred in Jersey City, at the home of the Rev. Mr. Henry Meyer, of the First Reformed Church.

KATHERINE DREIER TO WED

Brooklyn Girl Met Edward Trumbull, an Artist, in London.

Word was received in Brooklyn yesterday that Miss Katherine Dreier, of Brooklyn Heights, who has spent the last two years painting in England, is to be married to Edward Trumbull, a well known artist. Miss Dreier and her fiancé are now on their way home from England.

Although Mr. Trumbull has lived in London for many years, he is an American by birth, and belongs to an old Connecticut family. While studying art in London Miss Dreier met him, although not one of his pupils. The wedding is to take place the middle of this month at the Dreier home, No. 6 Montague Terrace.

After the wedding will sail for England, as Miss Dreier is preparing for an exhibition at the Dreier Gallery, in London.

Miss Dreier is the daughter of the late Theodore Dreier and the sister of H. Dreier. The family has always been prominent in the social and civic life of Brooklyn.

MINISTER MORGAN IN LISBON.

Lisbon, Aug. 3.—Edwin V. Morgan, the new American Minister to Portugal, in a carriage and under a brilliant escort of cavalry, went to the old royal palace at Belem to-day and presented his credentials to the Premier. There was an exchange of friendly speeches between Mr. Morgan and the Prime Minister. The ceremony was conducted with great pomp. A deputation of members of the Assembly was present.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY.

Free admission in the American Museum of Natural History and the Zoological Garden. Formal opening of "Field No. 1" of the Flatiron Building. Services from the Flatiron Building, east of Flatiron avenue, 2.30 p. m.

ESTRADA SEES GOV. WILSON

Nicaragua's Ex-President a Dinner Guest of Jersey Residents.

By Telegraph to the Tribune. Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Aug. 3.—Former President Estrada of Nicaragua, Mrs. Estrada and J. W. Moncada, B. Shan and E. Brantland, all of Nicaragua, and Mayor Wittippen, of Jersey City, were guests at a dinner to-day given at the Jersey Pleasure Club by Mrs. G. Kern and a party of summer residents of Atlantic Highlands. The Nicaraguans and Mayor Wittippen were met at Atlantic Highlands station. The party then started for Sea Girt in five automobiles decorated with American and Nicaraguan flags. The party spent the afternoon there and the Nicaraguans were introduced to Governor Wilson.

PELLAGRA IN KENTUCKY

One Hundred Cases of Disease Reported in Two Counties.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 3.—Following the discovery of seven cases of pellagra in the Eastern Kentucky Insane Asylum, it was reported to-day that upward of one hundred cases have been found in Bell and White counties.

THE WOODLAW CEMETERY

is readily accessible to Harlem and Jerome Avenue, and is a beautiful and well kept cemetery. Services from the Flatiron Building, east of Flatiron avenue, 2.30 p. m.

FRANK E. CAMPBELL, 241-3 West 25th St. Private Rooms, Private Ambulance, 70-1254 Chelsea.

OFFICES

MAIN OFFICE—No. 12 Nassau street. HARLEM OFFICES—No. 157 East 125th street. ASTOR OFFICES—No. 154 Broadway. ARMY AMERICAN DISTRICT TELEGRAPH OFFICE. HARLEM OFFICES—No. 157 East 125th street. Telephone 263 West 125th street, and No. 210 West 125th street.

WASHINGTON BUREAU—Westery Building.

WASHINGTON BUREAU—Westery Building.

WASHINGTON BUREAU—Westery Building.

THE NELSON OF JAPAN.

WAS CONSIDERED TO BE ONE OF THE GREATEST ARTISTS IN EUROPE.

REINHOLD BEGAS, THE SCULPTOR, DEAD

Was Considered to Be One of the Greatest Artists in Europe.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Professor Reinhold Begas, the most renowned sculptor in Germany, is dead. He was eighty years old.

Reinhold Begas, son of the artist Karl Begas, was born in Berlin in 1831, and after studying with Wiesmann and Rauch went to Rome, where the study of Michelangelo closely affected his future development.

In 1856 he permanently settled in Rome. Among the numerous and important works executed by Begas, the following are especially noteworthy: Statue of Friedrich Schiller (Berlin, 1863); "Venus Comforting Cupid" (1864); "The Rape of the Sabine" (1876); "Hermes and Psyche" (1878, National Academy, Berlin), and many others. Begas also executed a large number of busts and displayed his remarkable versatility in a series of portraits of women and important architectural designs.

W. M. HAMMERSTEIN WEDS

Miss Anna Nimmo, Sister of First Wife, the Bride.

William Hammerstein, son of Oscar Hammerstein and manager of Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, was married on July 27 to Miss Anna Nimmo, the sister of his first wife.

Seventeen years ago he married Alice Nimmo, who died on August 26, 1900. Two sons, now fifteen and thirteen years old, were born to them. Since their mother's death Anna Nimmo had lived at Mr. Hammerstein's home at Arden Hall, No. 29 Central Park West, to take care of her nephews.

The marriage occurred in Jersey City, at the home of the Rev. Mr. Henry Meyer, of the First Reformed Church.

KATHERINE DREIER TO WED

Brooklyn Girl Met Edward Trumbull, an Artist, in London.

Word was received in Brooklyn yesterday that Miss Katherine Dreier, of Brooklyn Heights, who has spent the last two years painting in England, is to be married to Edward Trumbull, a well known artist. Miss Dreier and her fiancé are now on their way home from England.

Although Mr. Trumbull has lived in London for many years, he is an American by birth, and belongs to an old Connecticut family. While studying art in London Miss Dreier met him, although not one of his pupils. The wedding is to take place the middle of this month at the Dreier home, No. 6 Montague Terrace.

After the wedding will sail for England, as Miss Dreier is preparing for an exhibition at the Dreier Gallery, in London.

MINISTER MORGAN IN LISBON.

Lisbon, Aug. 3.—Edwin V. Morgan, the new American Minister to Portugal, in a carriage and under a brilliant escort of cavalry, went to the old royal palace at Belem to-day and presented his credentials to the Premier. There was an exchange of friendly speeches between Mr. Morgan and the Prime Minister. The ceremony was conducted with great pomp. A deputation of members of the Assembly was present.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY.

Free admission in the American Museum of Natural History and the Zoological Garden. Formal opening of "Field No. 1" of the Flatiron Building. Services from the Flatiron Building, east of Flatiron avenue, 2.30 p. m.

ESTRADA SEES GOV. WILSON

Nicaragua's Ex-President a Dinner Guest of Jersey Residents.

By Telegraph to the Tribune. Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Aug. 3.—Former President Estrada of Nicaragua, Mrs. Estrada and J. W. Moncada, B. Shan and E. Brantland, all of Nicaragua, and Mayor Wittippen, of Jersey City, were guests at a dinner to-day given at the Jersey Pleasure Club by Mrs. G. Kern and a party of summer residents of Atlantic Highlands. The Nicaraguans and Mayor Wittippen were met at Atlantic Highlands station. The party then started for Sea Girt in five automobiles decorated with American and Nicaraguan flags. The party spent the afternoon there and the Nicaraguans were introduced to Governor Wilson.

PELLAGRA IN KENTUCKY

One Hundred Cases of Disease Reported in Two Counties.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 3.—Following the discovery of seven cases of pellagra in the Eastern Kentucky Insane Asylum, it was reported to-day that upward of one hundred cases have been found in Bell and White counties.

THE WOODLAW CEMETERY

is readily accessible to Harlem and Jerome Avenue, and is a beautiful and well kept cemetery. Services from the Flatiron Building, east of Flatiron avenue, 2.30 p. m.

FRANK E. CAMPBELL, 241-3 West 25th St. Private Rooms, Private Ambulance, 70-1254 Chelsea.

OFFICES

MAIN OFFICE—No. 12 Nassau street. HARLEM OFFICES—No. 157 East 125th street. ASTOR OFFICES—No. 154 Broadway. ARMY AMERICAN DISTRICT TELEGRAPH OFFICE. HARLEM OFFICES—No. 157 East 125th street. Telephone 263 West 125th street, and No. 210 West 125th street.

WASHINGTON BUREAU—Westery Building.

WASHINGTON BUREAU—Westery Building.

WASHINGTON BUREAU—Westery Building.

THE NELSON OF JAPAN.

WAS CONSIDERED TO BE ONE OF THE GREATEST ARTISTS IN EUROPE.

REINHOLD BEGAS, THE SCULPTOR, DEAD

Was Considered to Be One of the Greatest Artists in Europe.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Professor Reinhold Begas, the most renowned sculptor in Germany, is dead. He was eighty years old.

Reinhold Begas, son of the artist Karl Begas, was born in Berlin in 1831, and after studying with Wiesmann and Rauch went to Rome, where the study of Michelangelo closely affected his future development.

In 1856 he permanently settled in Rome. Among the numerous and important works executed by Begas, the following are especially noteworthy: Statue of Friedrich Schiller (Berlin, 1863); "Venus Comforting Cupid" (1864); "The Rape of the Sabine" (1876); "Hermes and Psyche" (1878, National Academy, Berlin), and many others. Begas also executed a large number of busts and displayed his remarkable versatility in a series of portraits of women and important architectural designs.

W. M. HAMMERSTEIN WEDS

Miss Anna Nimmo, Sister of First Wife, the Bride.

William Hammerstein, son of Oscar Hammerstein and manager of Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, was married on July 27 to Miss Anna Nimmo, the sister of his first wife.

Seventeen years ago he married Alice Nimmo, who died on August 26, 1900. Two sons, now fifteen and thirteen years old, were born to them. Since their mother's death Anna Nimmo had lived at Mr. Hammerstein's home at Arden Hall, No. 29 Central Park West